City Council Candidates Answer Citizens Committee Questionnaire On Preservation Of The Community

The Carmel Citizens Committee, on March 20, submitted a list of questions to each of the five candidates who seek election to the Carmel City Council on Tuesday.

The committee's over-400 members seek to keep business in Carmel subordinate to the residential character of the community in accordance with the city's zoning law. The questions given the council candidates, therefore, were on issues the committee considers important to the preservation of Carmel as stated above.

The candidates, at the request of The Carmel Pine Cone and with the approval of Rear Admiral C. W. Fisher (USN Ret.), president of the Citizens Committee, prepared answers for this issue. They are printed below, first each question, then each candidate's answer.

Editor's

Column

From among the five candidates seeking election to the city council on Tuesday, two must be selected.

The Pine Cone recommends Herbert B. Blanks and Jean T. Chitwood.

Mr. Blanks is a man of deep integrity. He believes that anyone who takes his living from a community should be willing to return a portion of what he receives in the form of public service.

Carrying out this belief he has served for seven years on the Carmel Planning Commission, two years as chairman. This experience gives him a realistic knowledge of Carmel and the varied problems which beset the city.

During his service on the commission he has demonstrated his ability to act in the best interests of Carmel. He is a businessman, also has spent four years in U. S. Army comptrollership work, thus possesses executive and administrative experience.

He believes Carmel's greatest problem is the preservation of its residential character and unique beauty, but he is not blind to the need for thriving business development in accordance with the above preservation.

He has known and loved Carmel since 1926, and has a bachelor of science degree in forestry from the University of California and is a conservationist. Carmel's trees will be safe with Mr. Blanks.

Jean T. Chitwood came to Carmel as a child in 1914. Her father, Peter Taylor, was a member of Carmel's first city council. Her husband, Commander John C. Chitwood, is retiring from the city council after 12 years' service, two of these as mayor.

During the past 12 years, Mrs. Chitwood has attended almost every council meeting with her husband, and knows what a responsibility she will assume as a councilwoman; that it is not a matter for frivolity, but entails study and mature consideration of all problems relating to the town in which she has spent nearly all her life.

She pledges four years of effort to preserve the beauty and traditions of Carmel.

One of these traditions is a woman on the city council. Eva K. de Sabla was a member of Carmel's first council. In her footsteps followed Clara Kellogg and Geraldine Smith. Mrs. Chitwood has an illustrious path to tread. We are not recommending her because she is a woman, but because she knows Carmel, past and

"Happy Birthday" Everyone Sang To Councilman John

During a lull in the city council agenda last night, someone moved to suspend the regular order of business. After that, dignity rapidly deteriorated. Councilman Francis Whitaker left the room, saying he didn't want to argue about what was coming.

Then Mayor Frank Putnam and Councilman Eben Whittlesey got into a wrangle, the latter saying he objected in general to suspensions because they left the council at the

Carmel Council Scorns Highway Division Ruling

Two fixed ideas locked horns at the Carmel City Council meeting last night:

The California Highway Division's insistence on uniformity and Carmel's passion for singularity.

The debate was between the council and J. M. Chaffee, engineer with the San Luis Obispo office of the highway division, over what kind of sign can be placed at the intersection of State Highway One and the Carpenter-Serra Street route, and never have the battle lines between state and city been more sharply drawn, not even over the freeway issue.

Councilmen have wanted an intersection sign saying, "Carmel, North Entrance," to divert traffic by letting motorists know there is also, by implication, a south, or more southerly, entrance on Ocean Avenue, thus relieving some of the congestion in town when too many cars come down the Serra-Carpenter route because drivers believe it's the only entrance to the city.

Chaffee summarily vetoed this and said the only kind of a sign possible would be one saying just "Carmel" or "Carmel, Carpenter Street Entrance," which councilmen maintained says nothing at all to strangers.

Chaffee said nothing could be done about changing division policy, which is established by a committee whose paramount aim is establishing uniform standards throughout the state and, by projection, the nation. Several times the highway engineer defended his position by saying, in effect, "They do it in all the other cities," which as everyone knows (or perhaps everyone but Mr. Chaffee), is to a Carmel council like fluttering a matador's cape before an irritable bull.

"While we appreciate some of the reasoning behind your request," Chaffee said in his opening remarks, "unfortunately we cannot comply with it." He said the

Rump Council Initiates Surprise Action To Raise Business License Fees

With the City Council year in its final hours, Carmel's governing body voted last night to initiate action on an ordinance that would increase business license fees, additional revenue from which would be earmarked for purchase of off-street parking.

Although the plan, originating with the Carmel Business Association, has been under discussion for several months, the action was a surprise move, coming after Councilman Francis Whitaker moved to have the matter removed from the consent calendar to the regular agenda, and then made the motion to refer the plan to the administration committee so that an ordinance could be drafted for council consideration. Councilman Eben Whittlesey seconded the motion.

An amendment to Whitaker's motion by Gunnar Norberg asking that the committee also consider a plan for escalated overparking fines which, by discouraging overparking by business people downtown, would, Norberg thought, eventually free some 153 existing parking spaces, failed for lack of a second.

"I made this motion tonight," Whitaker said, "because in the nearly ten years I have sat as a councilman this is the first time any council has been willing to try to help the parking problem. Unless we act tonight to have an ordinance drafted for possible action by the new council at the May meeting, any possibility of doing anything about parking will be lost for another year (because there wouldn't be time to put the revenue on the budget)."

"I believe it's incumbent on us to take the initial step. If the new council favors the ordinance, then it can act accordingly."

The motion carried with Norberg dissenting.

UNIVERSITY OF REDLANDS BAND HERE NEXT WEEK

The University of Redlands concert band, conducted by Professor James R. Jorgenson, will present a program of varied classic and contemporary music at Carmel High School at 2:15 o'clock in the afternoon of Friday, April 12, free to the public.

NEW KRML PROGRAM LENTEN EVENSONG

A new program featuring music by church choirs of the Monterey Peninsula has been introduced by Radio Station KRML. Lenten Evenson, which began April 1 and will continue through Easter Sunday, is heard from 6:05 to 6:45 o'clock every evening on KRML, 1410 kilocycles.

Warren Edwards, candidate for a council seat on Tuesday, disapproves of the city council initiating an ordinance to increase business license fees to purchase off-street parking.

"Too fast," he commented this morning on last night's action. He also said of the proposed parking provisions, "Too much money, too much information is lacking, not all sides have been heard from."

"Ever consider a referendum?" he concluded.

A continued hearing on the Coast Highway Master Plan will be held Tuesday afternoon before the Monterey County Planning Commission.

The future of Highway One from Malpas Creek to the San Luis Obispo County Line will be

MPC Citizens' Committee Tells Why "Yes" Vote Needed Tuesday In Junior College Bond Election

Carmel and Carmel Valley voters, along with others on the Peninsula, will go to the polls Tuesday to help decide on a $2,240,000 bond issue for purchase of the Monterey Peninsula College campus from the Monterey Union High School District over a 17-year period.

The bond proposal has had wide support from leading citizens and organizations throughout the Peninsula, according to Robert Ross, vice chairman of the Citizens' Committee in charge of the campaign.

Carmel citizens voted overwhelmingly (3,204 to 1,318) in favor of joining the newly-created separate Monterey Peninsula College District in June, 1960. In the campaign preceding that election, it was understood that the campus would have to be purchased eventually to "finish" the job of making MPC a truly Peninsula-wide college.

Carmel is now represented by Mark Raggett on the Monterey Peninsula Junior College District Board of Trustees, having been elected in March, 1961.

The price at which the campus is being purchased takes into account all capital outlay payments made by Carmel taxpayers to MPC from 1947 to July 1, 1961, according to the Citizens' Committee for the Bond Election.

The bond election Tuesday is exclusively for the purchase of the campus as it stands, the citizens' committee emphasizes. Under the board resolution calling for the election, the money can be used for no other purpose.

It is expected that the bonds will be sold at an interest rate of 3.5 per cent, or possibly less. This would make the tax on Peninsula property owners 10 cents for each $100 of assessed value.

JUNIPERO TRIMS CARMEL HIGH TRACK SQUAD

Carmel High's varsity track team dropped a 75-59 decision to the Junipero Memorial Cardinals in a practice meet last Friday afternoon, but the Padre lights decided the Cardinal Babes, 90 to 44. Robert Louis Stevenson, making its track debut this season, scored five points in the varsity division and managed four points in the lightweight class.

Rick Baldwin's double win in the hurdles was the highlight of a rather dismal showing by the Padre varsity. The stocky senior skipped over the highs in 16.7 and sprinted to a 21.9 win in the low sticks. Other first place winners for the Padres were Lee Oleson in the half-mile; Rob Holt in the pole vault; and Rich Shively in the high jump. Others scoring points for the out-manned Carmel squad were Jon Raggett, high hurdles; Warren Chapman, half-mile; Bob Wakefield and Barry Murphy in the 440; George Pollock in the sprints; Jim Markowitz, pole vault; Al Arndt, pole vault; David Preve, high jump; and Ken Edward in the broad jump.

Carmel's lightweight team, studied with ineligible performers, was much too powerful for the little squads from Junipero and RLS. Tom Leutinger, one of the most improved hurdlers in the CCAL, turned in a brilliant performance by zipping to wins in both the highs and lows. The slender sophomore timber-topper has improved with every outing and should make his mark when the CCAL B-division meet rolls around. Others adding to the Padre Babe point total were Ted Leidig, Alan Marshall, Phil Zobel, Ed Neroda, Jose Fernandez, Manuel DeLeon, Randy Mapstead, Ray Rhodes, Jeff Mc-

The Padre thineclads travel to Pacific Grove tomorrow afternoon for a league meet with the struggling Breakers. Pacific Grove has been in the track doldrums for the last few years and doesn't figure to offer too much of a challenge in this season's CCAL race.

CIRCLING THE BASES

Coach Larry Cummins and his Monterey Peninsula College nine ran into one of the classiest junior college baseball teams in Northern California last Saturday afternoon and when all the firing was done the Lobos had absorbed a double licking from the Foothill College aggregation. Dripping with power at the plate and talented in all positions, Foothill clubbed the Lobos, 16 to 4, in the opener and blanked them, 10 to 0, in the nightcap. The cramped MPC diamond was made to order for the heavy-hitting Owls who combed the Lobo pitching staff for six home runs. To be beaten by Foothill is no disgrace, since Coach Bob Pellegrini's charges have won over 40 straight games during the past three years.

Carmel dropped its second straight league game last Friday afternoon at Morgan Hill, losing a 7-1 decision to the Live Oak Acorns. Held to five hits by the fireball pitching of Bruce Pfeiffer, the Padres were unable to generate a sustained offense, and seven fielding miscues opened the gates for the Live Oak scoring. Mike Esconobio picked up two hits to pace the Padre bat-wielders. While the varsity was being rubbed by the Acorns, the Carmel jayvees came through with an 8-6 decision over the Live Oak reserves. George DuBets and Bob Little collaborated to pitch the win for the Little Padres, with Larry Sheingold sparking the batting order with two blows in four trips to the plate. One of the finest prep baseball players in Northern California is cavorting for the Robert Louis Stevenson Buccaneers in the person of Tom Jones, a versatile pitcher-infielder-outfielder, who swings from both sides of the plate and packs plenty of power from either port or starboard. Tom is a senior at RLS and has ambitions about becoming a professional when his college career is over. Coach Chuck Downes has a topflight baseball program going at Pebble Beach, and the Pirates are proving to be a tough opposition for the prep schools in the area. San Lorenzo Valley High, one of the favorites to win the CCAL B-division, entertains Coach Hadley Hicks's Padres Friday afternoon at Felton. The Cougars have one of the niftiest pitchers in the league in husky Bob Adams, and have a veteran crew surrounding the curve-balling right-hander. San Lorenzo bumped Pacific Grove, 3 to 2, last Saturday and the Breakers have a dangerous ball club capable of beating any team in the league. Veteran pitcher Jim Brown will be eligible for action against the Cougars, and Coach Hicks has hopes that the senior right-hander can put a halt to the Padre skid toward the league cellar.

Little League

SECOND TRYOUT AT HIGH SCHOOL FIELD SATURDAY

Player Agent Henry Newman and a corps of Major League managers consisting of Art Carpenter, Jim Kelsey, Gerald Artellan, Newt Goodrich, Les McGuckin, and Jack Cate will conduct the second tryout for newcomers to Carmel Little League this Saturday afternoon at 1:00 o'clock, at the Carmel High School baseball diamond. Last Saturday's initial tryout drew more than 100 candidates and each boy was given a close scrutiny by the Little League officials.

This Saturday's tryout will be the last chance for youngsters to make a bid for Little League since league rules require each candidate to attend two tryout sessions. Boys who are qualified and want to play can come to the Carmel High diamond Saturday and register with Little League officials. It is not necessary for parents to come with the youngsters, but each boy is required to have a photostated birth certificate for the player agent. In order to be eligible for Little League, a player's birthday must fall between August 1, 1949, and July 31, 1954.

Minor League managers will also be present for Saturday's workout to take charge of the 8-year-old group and give the Major League managers a better chance to evaluate the 9-12 candidates. At the present time, the following managers have been assigned to the Farm League teams: Surf & Sand—Don Wilkerson; Rocky Point Lodge—Ewell Cole; Derek Rayne—John Harrison; Village Inn—Lee McGuckin; Carmel Plaza—Hunter Stewart; and The Rockets—Wes Ball. The Mission Ranch managerial assignment has not as yet been made.

WORK DETAIL AT LITTLE LEAGUE PARK SUNDAY

Sunday, April 8, is the time for all Little League officials, parents, and boosters to show up at the Little League Park to give the popular play spot its annual manicure job. A 1:00 o'clock work session has been set by President Mark Johnston and Superintendent of Grounds Bob Connell to put the field in first class condition for the big opening day May 5. Workmen are asked to bring hoes and shovels plus plenty of energy to keep up with the fast pace set by Superintendent Connell. After the season starts, each Little League team will draw cleanup detail during the season in order that the players may appreciate the joy of playing in a well-kept baseball park.

SPARTANS NO MATCH FOR CARMEL TENNIS SQUAD

Sweeping through all the action without a defeat, Coach Harold Lippstreu's Carmel High tennis team romped to an easy win over the Gonzales racket-wielders last Saturday morning at the Padre courts. Manning the powerful Carmel squad was Page van Loben Sels, Craig Olsen, Gary Steffen, Stan Cummings, and Ron Berry.

A showdown battle with Monterey High is on tap for the Padres this Saturday morning at the Monterey courts where the championship of the CCAL will more than likely be decided. Monterey is still chafing from a defeat at the hands of the Padres last season, and Coach John Campbell's charges will be going all out to turn the tables in Saturday's crucial matches.

PIGEON RACING RESULTS

Sunday, the first race of the Old Bird Series for the Carmel-Monterey-Seaside Racing Pigeon Club was flown from Colfax, a distance of approximately 180 air miles. Birds were released at 6:30 o'clock in the morning. E. O. Anderson of Del Rey Oaks clocked the winning bird home at 10:59 o'clock.

bring in huge revenue from transients and which would lift much of the present tax load from the backs of the permanent residents. This is the parking permit idea, which would mean a cost of perhaps a dollar per car per year for every car owner, whether permanent or transient. Since week ends often bring visitors by the tens of thousands by automobile to Carmel and to its world-famed beach, this could likewise bring revenue to the city by the tens of thousands of dollars, since large numbers of the visitors either just come once or only a few times in a year's time.

Meanwhile, before a still untried parking permit fee is attempted, I believe that Carmel should promptly do what it failed to do last summer, and that is to enact a room tax to be assessed to transients at motels and hotels. This could later be repealed if eventual parking permit revenue were to be as large as I think it could become.

Blanks:

I believe that government should confine its expenditures to the provision of those services essential to the preservation of the public safety, health and welfare. Within this framework it should operate with the maximum economy consistent with good service. I believe that the present city council and the city clerk and his assistant have done a good job of fiscal management, and we are presently in a sound financial position. With the increased assessed valuation and increased sales tax returns, my thoughts are not presently on tax increases, but on possible reductions. However, I believe that if the cost of required services, even with competent management, exceeds available funds, then costs must be met with revenues derived, wherever possible, from the special areas of activity which generated the costs. If this cannot be pinpointed, the property owner will have to foot the bill. Motel-hotel room tax: I personally feel that this is a fair proposal. The motel or hotel owner is subsidized to collect the tax by license fee remission, and the tax is levied on those who are temporarily sharing our community as their contribution to its maintenance. I would not care to see the revenue from such a tax lost in the general fund. It is far too easy to find ways to spend large, uncommitted surpluses and I am opposed to such on management principles. There are programs which are presently unfunded and for which such tax revenue could and should be used. These are acquisition of greenbelt and open space areas. If funds were earmarked for these purposes, I should be willing to support such a tax.

Buffington:

As times change business also changes and a constant study of business licenses is not at all objectionable. Any study of business license fees should be made with the thought of each business meeting its share of the expenses of the city on a fair basis and not with the thought of having the business community provide the entire revenue to the city nor an unfair portion of it.

A so called "bed tax" or "room tax" was considered by the present city council and refused for very sound and equitable reasons. I do not honestly feel that any one business activity should be singled out as the business to be taxed to meet so-called rising costs of the city. In my opinion there will be a state tax imposed on hotel and motel occupancies some time in the not too distant future, and at that time a city tax may be included as is the sales tax.

As of now I can think of no reason for other taxes to be levied.

Chitwood:

I would certainly be in favor of finding other sources of revenue rather than increasing property taxes.

I would favor increasing business license taxes if the money is used for parking facilities. It would appear that a room tax is inevitable on a Peninsula-wide basis, sometime in the future.

Edwards:

Possibly. A room tax is most successful in other areas.

Should there be some limit on the bulk and size of business buildings?

Norberg:

Yes. Maximum ground area; 4,000 square feet. Maximum height, two ten-foot stories. Maximum lot coverage, 70 percent. Maximum building site, 8,000 square feet.

The control of the sizes of business buildings and of the sites upon which they may be erected requires early attention. If this is not done in time, Carmel may be the repeated victim of monster block-sized developments. These also would lead to the further intrusion of chain-store enterprise, which menaces Carmel's business individualism.

Blanks:

I helped to formulate and support the frontage, height, set-back and architectural controls contained in the present code, which are in themselves bulk-control measures. I believe that they will achieve the effect of maintaining the character and scale of the business district. I do not believe in the imposition of limitations on land use over and above those demonstrably necessary to maintain the community character.

Buffington:

I do not favor a limit on the size or bulk of business buildings other than those now in effect which concern height, open space, etc. Architectural control is far more important to this type of community than size.

Chitwood:

The limit on bulk and size of business buildings is already accomplished by present zoning laws.

Edwards:

Absolutely.

Should major roads on the Peninsula be of the scenic or parkway type rather than the freeway or expressway type?

Norberg:

Yes.

Blanks:

I am enthusiastically in favor of the scenic road and parkway concept for the Monterey Peninsula road net. Besides the implication of scenic, landscaped roadsides, slower speeds and reduction of interchange structures, I find the factor of reduced standards for grades and curves are particularly important in achieving the effect of highways designed to fit the terrain instead of changing the terrain to fit the highways. It is my opinion that traffic flow on the Peninsula in our "terminal" area, can be handled at speeds and on highways designed to suit our local needs and desires, rather than to freeway specifications.

Buffington:

There should be one major freeway on the Monterey Peninsula beginning at Highway 101 Prunedale cutoff and terminating probably at the Carmel River. Some type of four lane highway should be built from Monterey to Salinas but this would not or should not be of concern to Carmel except as a safer more comfortable means of reaching Salinas. All other roads and streets in the area could and should be of a scenic type.

Chitwood:

If we are forced to make a choice, the scenic or parkway type would be preferable to a freeway or expressway.

Edwards:

Yes. Anything the majority desires.

In principle, do you favor annexation of all or portions of Carmel Unincorporated?

Norberg:

Yes.

Blanks:

In the Carmel area, everyone considers himself to be a "Carmelite." The area is already culturally and socially unified, and bounded by natural topographic and hydrographic features. I am (Continued on Page Four) in favor of home rule. I question the propriety of the County engaging in the provision of urban services in intensively developed suburban areas. This is inequitable, since citizens of the incorporated areas share the cost of these services, as well as providing the urban benefits of their cities cost-free to suburban residents. It seems reasonable to me that the citizens of the several districts which comprise the Carmel area should meet and amicably discuss unification for the purpose of insuring control of their own destinies and making available the united human and financial resources of the area for the perpetuation of community characteristics and ideals. I do not favor any hasty or ill-conceived annexation program which would result in antagonism and conflict. I believe unification will only be possible when the majority of the people in the areas concerned are convinced that such a move is to their mutual advantage.

Buffington:

Annexation is another study that has been considered and reconsidered for many years. Carmel can best be preserved by staying within its present city limits if to preserve it is what is desired. If, however, annexation is the wish of the citizens then in my opinion it must be an annexation encompassing all environs from Pebble Beach to the Carmel River and from the ocean to the east to include the new junior high school and certain subdivisions in the area. Anything short of complete annexation, including the shopping center at the mouth of the valley, would involve an extension of services that could result in nothing short of increased taxes for everyone.

Chitwood:

As to annexation of any or all portions of Carmel Unincorporated, I would favor accepting only those portions that would bring in more tax revenue than it would cost Carmel to provide them with police and fire protection and maintain their roads.

Edwards:

The matter of annexation of the surrounding Carmel Unincorporated in portion or in total must be pursued with vigor. The areas immediately surrounding the present city boundaries are completely similar to the city of Carmel and efforts to explain the advantages of city government must be made to the property owners in these areas. Too many cities in California have solved this question to the financial success of the unincorporated area to leave any doubt. It is simply an educational effort which should be done.

Off-Street Parking: (a) About how many spaces should be provided? (b) In what area should they be located? (c) Who should pay for their acquisition and operation. 1. business people; 2. the city; 3. other?

Norberg:

(a) and (b) Still to be determined. (1.) The business people. (3) Yes. Escalated overtime parking fines.

Blanks:

Studies and proposals have been made and rejected in this field since 1950. The only concrete measures adopted have been the 1-for-

1 parking for transient housing, and the creation of the P-3 (Parks for Parking) zone. Today the increased public demand requires that the strong light of inquiry be directed on this problem. At present the planning commission has embarked on such a program.

I should like to submit the thought that the planning commission might be well advised not to concern itself at first with the question of the means and methods of providing off-street parking. It appears to me that the commission should first assess the extent to which the development of the community is to be influenced by the automobile. It is very apparent that Carmel can never provide enough parking to meet the demand. It is the nature of the automobile that the more space that is provided for it, the more it demands. With this in mind, I feel that the critical problem is whether or not we really want additional off-street parking, and, if so, how much can be provided without affecting the character of the community. After this basic determination is made, the problems of where parking, if any, should be located, who should provide it, and who pay for it, can be solved.

Buffington:

Frankly I do not have the solution to the parking problem, if indeed a problem does exist other than in our minds. The fact that we must walk one or two blocks does or does not create a problem depending upon our individual thinking. If it is found that a problem exists and is acute and cannot be solved at least in part by using space already owned by the city and available at little or no cost to the taxpayers, then and then only should the city council consider ways and means of financing additional parking. I am surely not prepared to state whether business alone, business and the other citizens, tourists and business, or any other combination of groups should pay for parking without a great deal of thought and study.

Chitwood:

We should have as many off-street parking spaces as finances will permit and they should be located on the perimeter of the business district. The majority of the cost of their acquisition should come from the business district because business will reap the greatest benefit.

Edwards:

(a) Can't provide enough. (b) Central business district. (1) Probably, if there really is a parking problem.

On the matter of off-street parking, I believe very strongly it would be wrong to use property tax money to provide off-street parking facilities. The local taxpayer should not be expected to support acquisition and/or operation of this type of facility. There are too many unexplored avenues to correct and alleviate the present situation which, if elected, I will investigate, and propose.

In addition to the above answers, candidates submitted to The Pine Cone the following observations.

Norberg:

Conventional concepts of what the world often foolishly calls 'progress' continue to pose serious threats to the special character, the distinct individuality, and the physical environment of Carmel. Because this is so, Carmel's governing body, its city council, must be ready not merely to resist threats usually identified elsewhere as 'progress,' but also to advance its own cultural, aesthetic, and environmental values. While the city council is engaged in these often arduous and sometimes controversial efforts, it must also see to it that the tax burden upon the community is held down firmly, for in these times the taxpayer is indeed sorely beset by the many other taxing agencies which almost ceaselessly bludgeon him. It is because I believe that I can help to focus and direct these efforts that I am seeking re-election to the city council.

Since Carmel has wisely chosen to live in a forest environment, it is important that the municipal forest be properly maintained. For this purpose, a forestry commission now exists. But it is existing now only as a tentative or temporary body. It should be made permanent. And it should be given the means properly to perform its function, which I believe would include the employment of a graduate of one of the nation's noteworthy university schools of forestry. There are plenty of budget cuts which could be made to allow for the employment of such a forester without adding to over-all tax costs.

Blanks:

Perhaps the first thing I should make clear is that I am not running on a "platform." I do not believe that a candidate for a non-partisan office should bind himself to a platform in such a position that by over-positive assertions and campaign promises, he may later, on due reflection and under changed circumstances, find himself unable to act in the manner in which his conscience and best judgment dictate. I do believe that citizens of a community are entitled to representation by men and women who are reasonable and intelligent persons, who have the interests of the community at heart, and who can be expected to give fair and open-minded consideration to the myriad problems which arise in municipal government, and render reasonable decisions thereon. I further believe that the citizens should know the basic beliefs which will govern such persons in their decisions. These certainly cannot be expressed in simple "yes" and "no" answers.

With this explanation, allow me to express some of the basic beliefs which I hold concerning our city and its government: Community Character: I believe that Carmel has been, is, and should continue to be a residential community. Paradoxically, it is this very residential character and the regulation of business enterprise in conformance to it that has resulted in the influx of visitors, rapid marginal growth, increased intensity of land use, sky-rocketing real estate prices and a business economy based on tourism instead of local demand. With this change in the economy and the attendant higher land values and increased assessments, potent pressures are being exerted to liberalize zoning requirements in order to permit more intensive uses in the areas of site coverage, building height, population density of transients, and display advertising. So far this pressure has resulted not in acquiescence, but rather in a strong reactionary tendency toward stringent control of types of growth which would be inimical to the survival of the community character. Most of these controls have been instituted during the past 10 years, seven of which I have spent on the planning commission. I believe that the present zoning laws are generally adequate, and that provisions written into them are good for the preservation of our own community character, whether or not they would be good elsewhere. I believe that a zoning ordinance should be flexible, and that as conditions change, laws should change to meet situations which arise.

I am strongly interested in the preservation of the urban forest. I take some pride in having been trained as a professional forester, and having been a charter member of Carmel's Infant Forestry Commission. I am a conservationist by nature. My voting record on the planning commission will show that I have not supported radically progressive or liberal proposals. It equally shows that I have opposed radically reactionary proposals. I am inclined to see both sides of a proposition, and try to do what is best for all concerned.

These are some of the beliefs and attitudes which I hold in regard to our city. I hope that some of your questions have been answered, to a degree at least. I most certainly will not commit myself to decisions on specific issues until they are presented, but I will, certainly, if I am elected to the Council, base my decisions on my beliefs.

Edwards:

An important area not covered in the questionnaire is the matter of condensing the present city lands and functions under one roof. I strongly believe the plan to build a city office at the corner of the Junipero and Fourth city property has been in committee or pigeon-holed too long. The possibility of selling the present city hall, police station and corporation yard and building an adequate central office facility is important to the city of Carmel. If I am elected I shall certainly try to implement activity in this regard. Further, I believe serious consideration should be given to including a library annex in this area as well as city offices and office space for the various commissions. In addition, provisions for use of the city hall and council meeting chambers as a lecture hall must be included. I can envision the World Affairs Council, and other similar-type civic groups putting such a hall to excellent use. The possibility of Federal assistance financially should not be overlooked in the event we can include a civil disaster communications center

There has been much talk of a school administrator mixing in city government and whether or not such a person would have time to do an adequate or better job. Having served as a councilman in another city, I am fully aware of the time and responsibilities involved and am more than willing to devote time required if elected.

Exceptional Cast Rollicks Through Studio Theatre's Coast Premiere Of Coward Comedy, Relative Values

An exceptionally well-selected cast rollicked through the West Coast premiere of Noel Coward's comedy, Relative Values, at the Studio Theatre last Friday evening, and seemed to enjoy the playwright's witticisms and cleverly contrived situations as much as the audience. The latter expressed appreciation of the production by demanding a succession of curtain calls at the end of the performance.

Mildred Cushing as Felicity, Countess of Marshwood, in whose home the action of the play takes place during a space of 24 hours, set the sprightly pace of the performance with her excellent portrayal of an elegant English aristocrat, charmingly witty in a feminine, vague manner, but actually keenly in control of every crisis... and there were many, all amusing.

The central crisis of the play is precipitated by the arrival of a beautiful Hollywood actress who has decided to marry Lady Marshwood's son. As Miranda Frayle, who favors marriage to an English peer over fighting the wane of a motion picture career, Julie Conway Sherry gave a splendid performance. Her failure to land her planned role, and her man, is caused by unexpected encounters with two persons from her past, and Lady Marshwood's strategic handling of the resulting situations.

First encounter is with Lady Marshwood's personal maid, Mrs. Dora Moxton (Moxie). This role was given a finely sustained and sympathetic interpretation by Anita Tonn. The part is difficult. It could be ridiculous if not properly played.

The second person to appear from Miranda's past is Don Lucas, a fellow motion picture star, played by Al Hood. He gave this role sincerity and avoided the pitfall of a possible ludicrous rendering of Coward's satirical Americanisms.

Dale Skillicorn who plays the Earl of Marshwood, the countess's son, cleverly interpreted a not too strong personality manipulated by two charming women. This part needed the acting skills he demonstrated, otherwise the audience could be most unsympathetic.

Muriel Hamilton as Lady Cynthia Hayling; Dr. Rex Whitworth as the Honorable Peter Ingleton; and Mary Gannon as Alice, a parlormaid, ably supported the main characters of the play.

Then there is Crestwell, the butler at Marshwood House, who sees all, knows all, and, at the correctly appropriate moment, speaks. This important part is played by Edgar Pye, and he is equal to it. As long as there are butlers as he played Crestwell, there will always be an England, and proper, too. This is a demanding role which with the wrong handling could be merely farcical; not the part through which Noel Coward delineates the relative values of the theory of social equality.

Barbara Horder West is the director of Relative Values which will be performed Friday and Saturday nights at 8:30 o'clock until further notice. She is responsible for the fast action of the comedy which played last week end to full houses and should continue to do so until the end of its run.

Producers of the Coward premiere are Betty Hackett, Royden Martin and John Halloran. Mary Gannon is in charge of properties; Jerry Zellhoefer, lighting.

R. Rolleston West, Derek Napier Lawford and John Halloran, who designed and constructed the set, are to be congratulated for creating the feeling of a spacious drawing room in an English manor on the tiny Studio Theatre stage.

Election Day Means Long Hours For Polling Place Staffs

Polls will be open Tuesday from 7:00 o'clock in the morning until 7:00 o'clock in the evening. But these will not be the working hours for the ladies who will greet and check all voters in the four city voting precincts. Their hours at the polls will continue until the last vote is tallied and ready to be taken to city hall in a sealed container.

Spending the day at the Carmel Youth Center polling place will be Alice W. Askew, inspector; Vera Marcolli, judge; Mary Craig and Rose Smith, clerks.

Judge at the Carmel Fire House polls will be Florinda C. Holm; inspector, Doris Templeman; the clerks, Shirley E. Watson and Bernice B. Wermuth.

The polling place at Carmel City Hall will be in charge of Sophia McGraw, inspector; Virginia W. Rose, judge; Banche Woods and Ruth Mapstead, clerks.

Those who will spend the day in the Sunset School auditorium lobby polling place will be Phyllis F. Appleton, inspector; Dorothea Roberts, judge; Virginia Klepich and Irene Lundy, clerks.

Many of these ladies are election day veterans. None yet, however, has equalled the record of Mrs. Fred Leidig. For the first time in 40 years she will not be one of Carmel's city election officials.

Wilderness Of The West

A monthly column
By C. Edward Graves

38—CALIFORNIA'S "REPORT ON SCENIC HIGHWAYS"

The other day I drove once more through Pfeiffer Big Sur State Park. As I passed the pioneer Pfeiffer cabin, I remembered the story that the mistress of the cabin, thoroughly frightened by her first trail trip into the Big Sur wilderness in 1869, had refused to go out again for many years. What a change has taken place during the intervening century!

This is the story of our vanishing wilderness all over the country. First, a trail; then a road, cutting off corners here and there and improving the grade; then a freeway, bulldozing its way through the hills straight as an arrow and inviting 80 and 90-mile an hour traffic. Scenery is forgotten on a freeway. On a recent motor trip through the eastern United States, several stretches of freeway traveling are now blanks in my mind. My happiest memories are those connected with winding country roads where leisureliness and appreciation go hand in hand.

The big question in the minds of all conservationists is how to stop this tendency for development from trails to freeway—the result of population pressure. This question became very acute on the Monterey Peninsula three years ago, when it was discovered that the Report on the California Freeway System prepared by the Division of Highways included all of Highway One in the proposed system. The directors of the Point Lobos League, local conservation organization, immediately took the matter up with Carmel's Senator Fred Farr, requesting that the very fragile section between Carmel and San Simeon be eliminated from the system, and through his interest and initiative this was accomplished.

The next step was taken when the Master Plan for Highway One in Monterey County, prepared by the firm of Skidmore, Owings and Merrill, pointed out the necessity of permanently protecting this section of highway from the freeway type of construction. To implement this, Senator Farr once more came to the rescue by introducing Senate Concurrent Resolution 39 in the 1961 Legislature, which called on several state departments to cooperate in preparing a report on a proposed system of Scenic Highways, of which our coast highway would be a part.

This report has now been issued in an unusually beautiful brochure with striking color illustrations on the cover and elsewhere, with some fine black-and-white photographs, and with one of the most imaginative jobs of printing in a state report that I have ever seen. Quite in contrast with many state and governmental reports, it is a pleasure to read it.

Senator Farr writes: "I believe this to be the first report in any state for a comprehensive statewide scenic highway program. It will require the positive support of many organizations and individuals throughout the state in order to accomplish by legislative action the recommendations in the 1963 Legislature."

The essence of the proposed system of Scenic Highways is that emphasis will be placed on the preservation of the primitive scenic beauty rather than on high-speed transportation between one part of the state and another. Whether this will result in anything more than ratification of the borders of already-designated freeways depends on the amount of interest that the public shows in the coming legislation. Candidates for election to the 1963 Legislature should be asked to spell out their ideas on the subject in very definite terms. Nor should we fail to ask candidates for election as Governor to be equally specific.

New Radio Series On Bible Teachings Starts This Sunday

A new radio series designed to highlight the essential vitality of Bible teachings was announced today by the Christian Science Churches.

Starting April 8, more than 700 stations will broadcast the weekly 15-minute series called The Bible Speaks to You. The programs describe how prayer can meet familiar problems confronting people in all walks of life. They feature well-loved selections from the Bible, read against a background of organ music. Informal discussion brings out the practical application of these teachings.

The Bible Speaks to You replaces the series How Christian Science Heals which has been on the air every week since September 18, 1953. It is produced by The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. Will B. Davis, manager of committees on publication, is in charge of the project.

Peoples of many faiths in Africa, Australia, Europe, Great Britain, New Zealand, and South America, as well as in all parts of the United States and Canada, are expected to hear the programs.

Opening the series is an introductory program on the subject Why Read the Bible? The commentator will be Ralph E. Wagers, a Christian Science teacher, practitioner, and editor. The host will be Harry Bacon Clark, who for many years was a CBS newscaster.

Other program topics will include: Bless them that curse you, Easter and the Bomb, Overcoming Anxiety, The Source of Health, Is More Leisure Time the Answer?, Don't "Label" Yourself or Others, Teenagers, Parents, and Temptations, Your Defense from Contagion, Does Your Life Have Meaning?, The Problem Drinker and Religion. Locally the series The Bible Speaks to You may be heard over KDON, Salinas, on Sunday, 8:45 o'clock in the morning.

MPC Choral Concert, Set For April 12, Free To The Public

Monterey Peninsula College's 12th annual spring choral concert has been scheduled for April 12, 8:30 o'clock in the evening, in the new Music Hall on campus, according to Dr. Harvey Marshall, chairman of MPC's music department.

The public, as always before, is invited to attend without charge.

Both the 60-voice MPC Chorus, under the direction of Dr. Marshall, and the College Singers, a smaller group conducted by John Erickson, will perform. Miss Angie Machado will assist.

The program will include Kyrie and Gloria from Mozart's Mass in D; selections from The Peaceable Kingdom by Randall Thomson, and To The Unknown Region, a choral work by Ralph Vaughn Williams—all presentations of the Chorus.

Excerpts from St. Matthew Passion by Schutz, and a group of madrigals, will comprise the College Singers' portion of the program.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

The power of spiritual thoughts to dispel apathy and idleness will be brought out in Christian Science church services Sunday.

Bible readings in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Unreality" will include these verses from Proverbs (6): "How long wilt thou sleep, O sluggard? when wilt thou arise out of thy sleep? Yet a little sleep, a little slumber, a little folding of the hands to sleep: So shall thy poverty come as one that travel-eth, and thy want as an armed man."

A correlative passage to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy states (p. 240): "If mortals are not progressive, past failures will be repeated until all wrong work is effaced or rectified. If at present satisfied with wrongdoing, we must learn to loathe it. If at present content with idleness, we must become dissatisfied with it."

Audubon Field Trip This Month To Hastings Reservation

The regular monthly meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Audubon Society will be held in Carmel High School music room on April 13, at 8:00 o'clock in the evening. Following the meeting, Miss Beatrice Howitt will present slides taken on a trip to Europe including pictures of birds in the Wildlife Refuge at Slimbridge, England. Additional information about the meeting and other activities for the month may be had by telephoning Mrs. G. P. Lamont, president, at MAYfair 4-7812.

A field trip has been scheduled to Hastings Natural History Reservation for April 15. This unusual 1600-acre ranch in the Santa Lucia Mountains near Jamesburg was acquired by the Museum of Vertebrates of the University of California in 1937. Here native plants and animals live undisturbed by the human use of the land. Honorary life member, Dr. Jean Linsdale, supervised the start of the project and its operation for 21 years. Meeting place will be the parking lot of the Safeway Store at the entrance to Carmel Valley just off Highway One, 9:00 o'clock in the morning. Dr. John Davis will be host for bird observation and Miss Beatrice Howitt will identify plants of the area.

A study group meets monthly to discuss a bird and its place in the ecology. On April 18, this Bird-A-Month section will meet at the home of Mrs. F. J. Jonitz, 1026 Rodeo Road, Pebble Beach, at 10:00 o'clock in the morning. The topic will be wading birds.

FAURE REQUIEM SUNDAY

The choir of All Saints' Episcopal Church, under the direction of John Gosling and assisted by instrumentalists from the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, will present Requiem by Gabriel Faure on Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. Soprano soloist will be Shirley Hubbard; baritone soloist, John Farr; harpist, Marie Rosalie Hazlett, and organist, Robert Forbes.

L'Alliance Francaise Invites Public To MPC Film Showing

The president of L'Alliance Francaise de la Peninsule de Monterey, Mrs. Jerome E. Carlson, announces that a famous French film, La Symphonie Pastorale (based on a novel of the same title by Andre Gide), recipient of several coveted film awards, will be shown to members and friends of L'Alliance April 12 at 8:00 o'clock in the evening in the Monterey Peninsula College library lecture hall. Anyone interested in viewing the film is welcome. A nominal admission charge will be taken at the door to assist in defraying expenses of this event.

August Armanasco, of the language department at MPC, is in charge of arrangements and will direct the showing of the film.

Judges To Select Best Student Of French For Award

A panel of judges has been selected to discover the best student of French in Peninsula high schools. This student will be given L'Alliance Francaise de la Peninsule de Monterey scholarship award of $100.00.

The scholarship will be presented in a ceremony during the latter part of May. Two "runner-up" awards will be presented in order of standing. They will be, respectively, a certificate and a book.

Scholarship selection judges are Mrs. Jerome E. Carlson, L'Alliance president; Mrs. Henri Baron, chairman of the group's scholarship award committee; August Armanasco, member of Monterey Peninsula College's foreign language department; Raymond Surdez, supervisor of the French department at the U. S. Army Language School; and Bruno Adriani of Carmel, noted scholar.

TAX GROUP ORGANIZES
The Monterey County Society for Equitable Taxes, which has endorsed Monterey City Councilwoman Minnie B. Coyle as candidate for county tax assessor, is sponsoring a county wide organizational meeting tomorrow night at 7:15 o'clock at the Wonder Lodge, Salinas.

All individuals or representatives of groups having a mutual interest in county tax problems are cordially invited. The main purpose of the meeting is to select a headquarters area for disseminating information.

Special invitations have been extended to Mrs. Coyle's sponsors for her nomination: Dr. J. B. Finley, Edwin E. Bliss, O. T. Valnizza and Jack Cowan.

Cancer Society Plans Two-Hour Campaign A Week From Monday

The 1962 cancer drive will be launched in the Peninsula area on Monday with a kick-off luncheon for precinct captains and Cancer Society officials at noon in the Mark Thomas Inn.

Guest speakers will be William Lundigan, television and motion picture star who is California campaign chairman for the American Cancer Society, and Dr. Sol R. Baker of Beverly Hills, who will speak on cancer research.

While the luncheon will initiate a week of organizational and training activities for this year's volunteer workers, the actual house-to-house drive will be capped into a two-hour march on Monday evening, April 16.

Among the Carmel and Carmel area residents who will be active in the Cancer Crusade this year are Golden Whitman of Carmel, president of the Monterey County Branch of the American Cancer Society; H. William Monroe of Carmel, who is a county co-chairman with Mrs. Gloria Suther of Monterey; Mrs. Arthur Hatley, Jr., of Pebble Beach, chapter secretary; Stanley E. Ewig of Carmel, treasurer; W. C. Phelps, Carmel area drive chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Alaire and Mrs. Owen Patrick, both of Carmel Valley, Valley chairmen; Donald Wald, Carmel Woods chairman; and Ronald Heisman of Carmel, business chairman of the campaign.

Residents who are passed over in the April 16 drive, will be left envelopes by the volunteer workers so that those who wish may send in contributions.

John Price

Private funeral rites were held Saturday morning in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea for John Fletcher Price of Carmel who died Thursday morning in a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of Delaware, Mr. Price had lived in Carmel for the past two years, coming here after his retirement as a department head with the Proctor and Gamble Company in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was a graduate in chemical engineering of the University of Delaware, and a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Julie Higgins Price, who lives at Hatton Road and Shafter Way; a daughter, Mrs. Edwin Moore, Jr., of Carmel; two brothers, Julian Price of New York City, and Clayton Price of Miami, Florida; and an aunt, Mrs. J. N. Reeves of Newark, New Jersey.

The Reverend David Hill of All Saints' Episcopal Church officiated at the services, with burial following in Cementerio El Encinal. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of arrangements.

Edward Hart

Edward Elliott Hart of Carmel Valley died Monday evening at the home of his sister, Mrs. Hull McClaughry, Miramonte Road, after a period of failing health. He was 89. Born in Sacramento on May 1, 1872, Mr. Hart retired in 1944 after having been associated for more than 20 years with the Standard Oil Company in San Francisco. He had lived for some 15 years on the Monterey Peninsula.

Besides Mrs. McClaughry, survivors are a son, Newell Hart of Pacific Grove; another sister, Mrs. Fleurette Millon of Fresno; a brother, Ernest Hart of San Geronimo; five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

His wife, Mrs. Agnes Glenn Hart, preceded him in death in 1952. Funeral services were held yesterday morning in the Paul Funeral Chapel with the Reverend W. H. Hermitage of Santa Cruz officiating. Inurnment will be in Sacramento.

SUNSET TEACHER'S OPERA TO BE PRESENTED AT MPC

William Purdy, music instructor at Sunset School, has written a one-act opera for presentation at Monterey Peninsula College April 28 and May 6. The opera, titled The Marriage Proposal, after the Chekhov story which inspired its theme, will feature Larry Swanson, Karen Steinke, and John Farr in the leading roles.

Mrs. Abbott

Mrs. Marguerite Zuck Abbott of Carmel died Saturday in a Salinas hospital after a short illness. She was 85, and had been a resident of Carmel for the past 25 years, making her home at Fifth Avenue and Santa Rita Street.

A native of Gilroy, she lived for many years in San Francisco, moving to Carmel following the death of her husband, James F. Abbott.

She leaves two sons, Andrew F. Abbott of Carmel, and James S. Abbott of Tucson, Arizona; two daughters, Mrs. Jean Whiteman of San Carlos, and Mrs. Dolan Brown of San Francisco; a sister, Mrs. Ross Goodman of Indianapolis, Indiana; and a brother, Ralph Zuck of Oakland.

Private funeral services were held in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea, with the Paul Mortuary in charge of arrangements.

Mrs. Hansen, Dr. Tucker To Wed

On April 21, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Leutzinger, Mrs. Margaret Hansen will become the bride of Dr. Edwin W. Tucker. Judge Gordon Campbell will officiate at the ceremony.

Mrs. Hansen's daughter, Carolyn, will be here from Berkeley, where she lives while teaching at Concord, to be her mother's maid of honor. David Hansen, who attended Monterey Peninsula College and now has a position with a Peninsula contractor, will give his mother in marriage.

Nine-year-old Fordham Tucker will be his father's best man. Dr. Tucker's daughter, Joan, aged seven, will be Mrs. Hansen's junior bridesmaid.

Following the ceremony, a reception for the couple's close friends will be held in the Leutzinger's home.

On Honor Roll

Keith Robinson of Carmel is on the honor roll for the fall semester at Whitworth College, Spokane. He is a senior sociology major.

Tau Mu Will Hold Sale

Tau Mu, one of the Peninsula's oldest service organizations, will hold a "far from old" rummage sale on Saturday, from 9:00 o'clock in the morning until 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon, at El Estero Hall, 629 Pearl Street, Monterey. Homemade cake and coffee will also be for sale.

Kurt Receives Princeton Degree

In Auckland, New Zealand, Kurt von Meier has received word of the conferring of his master of fine arts degree in art and archaeology from Princeton University.

After completing his Princeton studies, Kurt came through Carmel in January with his wife, Hildegard, on their way to his new post as assistant professor of fine arts in the Elam School of Fine Arts at the University of New Zealand.

The son of Mrs. Julian von Meier of Carmel, Kurt is a Carmel High School graduate, a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley in 1958, and also holds a diploma Estudios Hispanicos from the University of Madrid.

Carol Wise To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Raymond Wise of Carmel have announced the engagement of their daughter, Carol Louise, to Robert Arthur Cramblett of Peoria, Illinois.

Carol, a graduate of Carmel High School, is employed by a utilities company in Monterey. Her brothers are Robert Wise of Monterey, and Russell, Richard and Randy Wise of Carmel.

Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cramblett of Peoria, and is serving aboard the USS Lexington with the United States Navy.

The wedding will take place on May 26 at All Saints' Episcopal Church with the Reverend David Hill officiating.

Fehring Activities

After a two-weeks vacation in Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Fehring will jet home on Sunday. Meanwhile their daughter, Joy, will be a fashion model during Picnic Day on Saturday at the University of California at Davis.

Joy, Jeannie (from Chico State College), and Janet (on a brief vacation from Stanford University) will all be home for Easter to join their parents, their younger sisters, Julie and JoAnne, and their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn C. Fehring, visiting here from Terre Haute, Indiana.

Carmel Travellers

The Orient is luring several Carmel travellers this month.

On Saturday Mrs. Mark Brislawn and Miss Florence Waller will take off by jet from San Francisco to Japan where they will spend three weeks. From there they will visit Hong Kong and Bangkok, and on their return flight will stop off in Hawaii for a few days. They will be gone for a month.

Mrs. Lloyd Woodhull is also leaving by jet for the Orient on the same day, and with the same itinerary, except that after Bangkok she will visit Australia, New Zealand, Fiji and Tahiti before returning here June 3.

Mrs. Ramona Gahl's jet flight ticket is around the world "from Monterey to Monterey." Leaving Carmel today, she will be in Japan for the cherry blossoms, then go on to Hong Kong, Thailand, Cairo, the Holy Land, Istanbul and Athens. From Greece Mrs. Gahl will visit Spain and Lisbon before flying home in June.

Nursery School Picnic

Undaunted by fog and chilly breezes, the Carmel Parent Nursery School, including numerous alumni and alumnae, turned out 120 strong (the proportion running about two-thirds children to one-third adults) for its annual picnic Sunday afternoon on Reamer's Beach, Carmel Point.

Mrs. Richard Hill, social chairman of the nursery school organization, was in general charge, assisted on all sides by the fathers, who built fires, set up serving tables, and gave Ephraim Doner a hand with the Donerburgers, specialty of the occasion.

School parents, friends, and all the children were happily welcoming Rosa (Mrs. Ephraim) Doner back in their midst again after a recent illness which kept her away from her duties as director of the school.

Relatives Visit Mrs. Roberts

Seeing America for the first time and arriving in Carmel this week end to visit Mrs. R. Ellis Roberts, are Mr. and Mrs. Hal Summers of Tunbridge Wells, England. According to Mrs. Roberts, Mr. Summers is a "poet in the ministry of housing" in London; Mrs. Summers is a niece of the late R. Ellis Roberts.

With them are their three children, Nicholas, in the ministry of education, who is also a violinist and composer; Richard, in his first year at Trinity College, Oxford; and Lucy, who is still in school. The Easter holidays being unusually long in Great Britain, the whole family was able to take a two-weeks trip to this country. With Mrs. Roberts, the Summers plan to make a "grand tour" of Sequoia National Park, Death Valley, Zion and Bryce Canyons, and the Grand Canyon before their return to England.

Knudsen Now U. S. Citizens

Mr. and Mrs. Aage Knudsen received U. S. citizenship papers on March 13. Their witnesses on this occasion were Arne Halle, Carl Rohr and Walter Nielsen.

The Knudsen formerly were citizens of Denmark. They own and operate the Dolores Bakery.

Carolyn and David Are Married

Making their home in a cottage in the Carmel Highlands are Mr. and Mrs. David N. Hildebrand. Mrs. Hildebrand is the former Carolyn Pace, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pace of Pacific Grove, and David is the son of Evelyn Nidever Hildebrand of Carmel and Carl A. Hildebrand of Carmel Valley.

The young couple's engagement was announced in February by Carolyn's parents at a party given at Cerrito's for 175 friends. A May wedding was originally planned, but on March 24 Carolyn and David telephoned their families the news that a surprise ceremony had just taken place at the court house in Carson City, Nevada. Another couple, also getting married, were witnesses for Carolyn and David, who in turn were delighted to be witnesses for them. The bride wore a white suit for her marriage.

Carolyn is a graduate of Junipero Memorial High School, attended Monterey Peninsula College and is employed by a television business in Carmel.

David has two sisters, Mrs. John Lombardi (Laurel Dell Hildebrand) of San Francisco, and Carol Joyce Hildebrand, a dancer who has just finished a trip around the world. His brother is Mark Hildebrand, who has a position with IBM in San Francisco. David attended Carmel High School, completed two years in the Army as a radar operator, and is at present employed in the building field.

Johansen Dinner Was Shared

Because of an over-abundance of food prepared for Saturday night's Johansen-for-Sheriff buffet dinner dance, five turkeys were sent to the County Hospital, and two turkeys to Juvenile Hall, as well as extra salads, on behalf of sheriff candidate Johnnie Johansen.

CHS Band in Workshop

The Carmel High School Band, under the leadership of John Farr, will perform in the Monterey Peninsula College armory Saturday afternoon during a Coast Counties Music Educators workshop.

On Mediterranean Cruise

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Gibson, Mrs. Pliny E. Holt, Mrs. Eda L. Hoult and Miss Mariellen Marshall are among the passengers on the Stella Polaris which sailed from New Orleans March 31 on a 68 day cruise of the Mediterranean.

Eric in Matriculation Event

Eric Norberg, a sophomore at Pomona College, recently took part in matriculation ceremonies during the Class and Matriculation Day convocation program. Certain academic and citizenship standards must be achieved before a Pomona student becomes a matriculant.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Gunnar Norberg and a Carmel High School graduate, Eric is considering a major in history and philosophy.

Boy Scouts Executive Board

Elwood J. Wilson of Carmel will make the Peninsula district report when the executive board of the Monterey Bay Area Council, Inc., Boy Scouts of America, meets this evening in Salinas.

Other Carmel members of the Peninsula district are August Johnson, Maynard Petersen, and John F. Martin. E. M. Seifert of Carmel is a life member of the executive board.

Mrs. Newton Honored

At the annual dinner meeting of the Monterey Peninsula Council Parent-Teacher Association, Mrs. Robert Newton of Carmel was presented with an honorary life membership for her outstanding service to community organizations contributing to the welfare of youth.

The meeting was held March 27 at the Mark Thomas Inn. Mrs. August Johnson of Carmel was re-elected president of the organization, which represents 28 P-TA associations on the Peninsula.

Democratic Club Bazaar

The Carmel Women's Democratic Club will hold a bazaar on Tuesday at the Cypress Club from 10:30 o'clock in the morning until 3:00 o'clock in the afternoon. A ham luncheon will be served at noon. Baked goods, needlework, Easter specialties and books will be among the items on sale.

The lunch chairman is Mrs. Paul H. Low; Mrs. Benedict Mosley is in charge of the baked goods; Mrs. Harwell Dyer, jewelry; Mrs. Anne Norwood Peterson, white elephant sale; Mrs. Ian Tervet, needlework; Mrs. Saul Weingarten, Easter specialties; Mrs. Herbert Wiesenfeld, books; Mrs. Howard Benedict, finance chairman.

President of the Carmel Women's Democratic Club is Mrs. Thomas Oberbeck.

Jon Raggett In Competition

Jon Raggett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Raggett and a senior at Carmel High School, will compete in the selection of zone winners from central counties high schools in the Bank of America Achievement Awards program at Salinas on Tuesday.

Jon and 34 other candidates in four general fields of study (vocational arts, science and mathematics, fine arts, and liberal arts) will meet at Hartnell College and participate in round table discussion groups. A subject appropriate to each study field will be given each group. The candidate's performance in the discussion will be evaluated, with his grades and activities record in mind, by five judges from the central counties area.

Three winners in each field will be determined, the first place winner in each group going on to the final selection event to be held in Fresno May 24. All winners will receive cash prizes.

Mrs. Julian von Meier of Carmel, treasurer of the local branch of the American Federation of Arts, will be one of the five judges. Jon's field is science and mathematics.

MPC Student Wins Bank Award

John E. Young of Carmel, an honor student majoring in business administration at Monterey Peninsula College, will be among 61 other junior college students from northern California who will be guests of the Bank of America at a dinner in San Francisco tonight.

The students, all winners in the bank's Junior College Business Awards program, will also receive cash awards.

Private Raymond in Germany

United States Army Private Neil E. Raymond, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Raymond of Carmel Valley, recently arrived in Germany and is now assigned to the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment as a tank crewman.

Before entering the Army last June, Neil was a student at Monterey Peninsula College.

"Happy Birthday" Everyone Sang To Councilman John

mercy of whoever asked to suspend, and so on. "Under suspension, anything can happen," Whittlesey declared.

And then, sure enough, something did.

Whitaker returned to the council chamber bearing a cake with a dozen lighted candles, one for every year served on the council by Councilman John Chitwood, whose final regular council meeting was last night. Everybody sang Happy Birthday, which wasn't so inappropriate at that, because it was explained Chitwood's birthday had been Monday, and then they sang Happy Wedding Anniversary, because Chitwood's wedding anniversary is today.

Councilmen capped the triple honor by passing a resolution commending Chitwood for his work with the city. The honoree replied with an impromptu speech in which he said, among other things, that he had enjoyed his work, that in the 12 years he had lost his temper many times, but he hoped people would forget his past frustrations and remember his service.

In a congratulatory speech to his councilman colleague, Whitaker recalled that, "You and I have been on opposite sides of the fence lots of times, but neither of us ever sat on it."

Then administrative clerk Billie Postel cut the big cake and served it to councilmen and audience, using a brass letter-opener because no one had remembered to bring a knife.

Carmel Council Scorns Highway Div. Ruling

policy is set by a sign committee composed of representatives of the division of highways, auto clubs, League of California Cities, California Highway Patrol, County Supervisors' Association and other bodies.

Councilman Gunnar Norberg said, "Do you mean to tell us that when you have several entrances to a city, you can only point out one of these as the entrance?"

Chaffee said yes to this and Norberg added, "Lots of people would like the signs done away with completely so nobody could find Carmel." Then he added, "What if we painted 'North Entrance' on the sign you put up?"

Councilman Eben Whittlesey couldn't believe it either. "Do you mean," he asked Chaffee, "you cannot indicate more than one entrance to town? A person coming down the road whose attention is momentarily diverted causing him to miss the sign will be allowed no other opportunity to turn off to Carmel?"

Stephanie Cummings, left, and Sherrie Nix, right, are principal dancers in the new full length ballet, Peter Pan, adapted and choreographed by Joanne Nix, which will be presented in Sunset Auditorium on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Peter Pan will be the ninth ballet presented locally by Joanne Nix and her talented pupils. At the Santa Cruz performance of the ballet last week end, 1572 persons enthusiastically applauded the dancers.

In addition to Stephanie and Sherrie, others who will dance in the ballet are Pamela Beales Patterson, Michele Buhler, Carol Stewart, Shiela Grunwaldt, Darian Hopkins, Sandra Simard, Ann Sumida, Christine Durney, Joanne Louise Nix, Patricia Herrera, Margo Pearson, Wendy Lefler, Barit Keeble, Carol Sortais, Niki Buhler, Dale Lefler, Suzanne Simard, Colleen Cabral, Gwen Bennet, Joey Hopkins and Lark Ekstrum.

By encroachment permits, explained Chaffee.

"Then we'll apply for an encroachment permit," said Norberg.

Not possible, Chaffee said.

"We love the state and all the state laws and everything," Councilman John Chitwood joined in, "but we do things different down here. What we really want is a distribution of traffic into town so that we can handle it within our boundaries."

Many other points were brought into the discussion, including how it was possible for San Jose to have signs advertising its "eight exits." Norberg asked again, "Just what inhibits us from asking for an encroachment permit?" and Chaffee answered somewhat sarcastically, "What if every city wanted to erect directional signs?"

Councilman Francis Whitaker believed he had a compromise solution when he asked if the division would object to a sign put several yards up the highway saying the next two entrances lead to Carmel.

To this Chaffee said he might see what could be done, even though uniqueness was certainly no excuse for modifying the existing sign policy.

And that's about as close as he budged all evening from his original, unqualified "No."

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone

Barney Bracisco

Barney Bracisco, for 26 years a member of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department and a resident of Carmel for an even longer period, died Monday morning in a local hospital at the age of 59.

Requiem Mass was celebrated yesterday at the U. S. Naval Air Facility Post Chapel for Mr. Bracisco, who had been in past months making his home with a daughter, Yeoman 3/C June Bracisco of the Facility, who lives in Seaside.

Until the time of his death, Mr. Bracisco's name remained on the list of Carmel's fire fighters, but for the past six years had been carried in the inactive section.

He joined the volunteers in 1936, becoming vice chairman of the department in 1938. He was a fire captain for about 10 years. A native of Jolon, Mr. Bracisco was employed for 30 years by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company in Carmel.

Survivors include another daughter, Mrs. Paul Reed of Monterey, and a son, Leslie S. Bracisco of Salinas; a sister, Mrs. Lena Boronda of King City, and four grandchildren.

Pallbearers, all members of the Carmel Volunteer Fire Department, were William Askew, Jr., J. R. Belvail, Charles Grimshaw, Elford MacDonald, James Kelsey and Robert E. Smith.

Paul Mortuary was in charge of funeral arrangements.

IN CARMEL—By owner, $24,500. This artistic well-planned two-bedroom home located on Santa Fe just three houses north of Fourth, east side. It has been completely renovated. Has new all-electric tile kitchen. There is a view of the water through the trees from the dining room and sun deck. The living room has a nice fireplace. There are ample closets and the silent furnace keeps the whole house warm and comfortable. The one-car garage is wired and plumbed for washer and drier. The yard is sunny and fenced for privacy. Just a small garden. If you want a small home close-in, you cannot get a better buy. Taxes are $234. Loan commitments, $14,250, 20 years at 6%, also $15,000, 20 years at 6 1/2%. Immediate possession.

IN HATTON FIELDS—Two excellent level lots with ocean and mountain view, $17,000. each.

"CARMEL-ISH" AS ALL GET-OUT!

QUAINT, CHARMING, "different," with all kinds of assorted rooms: of course there's a large paneled living room with a stone fireplace, and there's a kitchen and dining room and several bedrooms, and there are also assorted nooks and crannies of rooms with bay windows or French doors to the pretty garden. It's on two lots, it's a level 2 blocks from the Village, it's completely renovated with new carpeting in every room. It's fresh, it's delightful, it's worth your consideration. The price is $32,500 and equity in your present property might even make the down payment.

THINK OF THIS FOR $27,750! Two bedroom home with 2 baths on 3 lots overlooking Point Lobos, separate dining room and workshop, large rooms and central heat. The catch? The property is in excellent repair but it needs some modernizing and dressing up. Happy to show it to you.

FRESH AS SPRING AND CLEAN AS RAIN! It will be a pleasure to show you this 2 bedroom home South of Ocean, with 1 1/2 baths. You'll be delighted with the construction, the grounds and the sunny deck. New appliances, drapes and carpeting included at $29,500.

IT'S SPRING! DO YOURSELF A FAVOR AND BUY A LOT! OVER AN ACRE OF THE BEST SOIL you can imagine. Catch steelhead from your own property. It must be cash for the low price of $8,500.

SWEETING VIEWS from a big lot in the Riviera for $9,500.

Speculators please note! Only $2,000 down on this.

ON THE RIVER IN RANCHO CANADA, a brand new listing. An acre for $12,500—ideal for the kids.

Sports ...

game of the current season at Sunset Field Tuesday, but fell before the sterling performance turned in by the Colonial Gardens crew from Salinas. All locked up at 0-0 going into the eighth heat, the Merchants saw the victory go to the visitors when a bases loaded double shoved across two runs. The local pastimers were unable to do any damage in the bottom of the eighth and the final outcome was 2-0 for the Gardens.

Gene Zinnani pitched a solid game for the Merchants, striking out 10 Salinas swingers, giving up five hits, and allowing only one free trip to first. His opponent on the mound, Gene Conner, was equally effective, whiffing 15, allowing four hits, and issuing four walks. Jerry Millette supplied the long ball power for the Merchants, stroking a triple to deep center field. Bob Updike, Duke Snyder, and Nino Aiello were the other Merchants to solve pitcher Conner's offerings.

Next Tuesday evening at 8:00 o'clock, the Merchants entertain the Fort Ord All-Stars at Sunset Field. The soldiers are always equipped with talented softball players and should provide some interesting opposition.
